THE NORWICH LIBRARY AND THE ROSS LIBRARY

The libraries contain a comprehensive collection of books, papers and periodicals relating to the actuarial profession today, together with a selection of material on insurance (life and non-life), pensions, investment, economics, mathematics and statistical methods. A database of all publications in stock is available at all sites.

The Libraries reserve the right to restrict the availability of any service to members of the Faculty and Institute of Actuaries only.

ACCESS

The Libraries are open to all members of the Faculty and Institute. Opening hours are 9.00am to 5.00pm Monday to Friday. Access for non-members is by arrangement with the appropriate library staff. Please telephone in advance of visiting.

LENDING

Most publications may be borrowed by members only. Books can be posted to members, and returned to any site. If a particular item is not in stock, it can usually be obtained from elsewhere.

PHOTOCOPYING

Subject to Copyright Regulations, the Libraries can provide single copies of periodical articles and extracts from books. The charge for this is currently 20p per A4 page. A fax service is also available. Pre-payment is required from non-members. A quotation can be provided if required.

ENQUIRIES

The library staff are always happy to handle enquiries, and if unable to help can usually refer you to someone who can. Customised lists of references can be prepared from the computer database, while you wait or by return of post.

READING LISTS

Reading lists on individual subjects contain details of books and papers published within the last 3-5 years and available from the Libraries. They are also available for downloading from the profession's web site: www.actuaries.org.uk
