

International Actuarial Association
Association Actuarielle Internationale

Seminar on Public Policy, Social Security and Trends in Mortality

Hosted by the International Actuarial Association's (IAA) Population Issues and Mortality Working Groups.

May 14, 2019

The Mayflower Hotel

Trends in Pension and Social Security

Trends in Mortality Due to Socio Economic Differences

Trends and Public Health Response on Avoidable Mortality

Welcome Slides

Balancing Adequacy, Sustainability, and Intergenerational Equity - Canada Pension Plan Auto Adjustment Mechanisms

Assia Billig - Chief Actuary, Office of the Chief Actuary, OSFI

Ideas to Mitigate the Global Pension Crisis

Abraham Hernandez - Chairman, PBSS Section

U.S. Private and Public Sector Panel Discussion (Discussion Slides)

Steve Goss - Chief Actuary, U.S. Social Security Administration and Josh Shapiro - Senior Actuarial Advisor, Groom Law Group

Rethinking Annuity Payouts From Mandatory Defined Contribution Schemes

Mitchell Wiener - Senior Social Protection Specialist, World Bank

General Trend and Issues in Finland

Barbara D'Ambrogio-Ola, Head of Actuarial and Analytical Services, Ilmarinen Mutual Pension Insurance Company

Causes of Death in the U.S. Population

R. Dale Hall - Managing Director of Research, Society of Actuaries

Trends in Population Cancer Morbidity Risk

Dr. Ayse Arik - Research Associate, ARC, Heriot Watt University

Recent Developments in Longevity Trends

Steven Baxter - Head of Longevity Innovation and Research, Club Vita

Mortality By Career-Average Earnings Level: US Social Security

Karen Glenn and Tiffany Bosley - Office of the Chief Actuary, US Social Security Administration

Trends in U.S. Motor Vehicle Accident Deaths

R. Jerome Holman - Principal, RJH Integrated Solutions

Obesity and Smoking

Sam Gutterman - Member of the Population Issues Working Group and the Mortality Working Group of the IAA

Four key Trends in Avoidable Mortality and How Public Health Systems Should Respond

Assia Billig - Chair of the ISSA Technical Commission on Statistical, Actuarial and Financial Studies

SUPPORTED BY

