IAA DECENNIAL REPORT

Following up on a recommendation made by the Professionalism Committee in Mexico City, the Officers met in Ottawa on April 20 and, among other things, recommended the immediate creation by provisional Presidential appointment of a Working Group to develop a Decennial Report covering the IAA from 1998 to 2008 to be available for the 10th anniversary of the restructure of the IAA that will coincide with the Council and Committee meetings in Québec City in June 2008. The Working Group will be led by Walt Rugland.

COUNCIL

Hillevi Mannonen, President

The main topic of discussion at the Council meeting in Mexico City was the report of the Task Force on Strategic Planning (TFSP). The TFSP put forward a Discussion Paper in March 2007 on the topic of “The Governance of the IAA”, based on the results of a questionnaire sent in late January. Written comments were received on that discussion paper. The TFSP met in Mexico City and its thinking evolved somewhat during that discussion. A report from the TFSP reflecting its discussions was made to the Executive Committee on April 16, further modified and presented to Council on April 18. In response to that presentation, 15 persons stood and gave comment. In the end, the question was asked by the chair of the TFSP “Which should come first – a strategic plan or a change in governance?” The overwhelming response was that a strategic plan should come first.

OFFICERS

Hillevi Mannonen, President
Yves Guérard, Secretary General
David G. Hartman, President-Elect
Jean-Louis Massé, Immediate Past President

After the Council meeting, many delegates expressed that, in principle, the strategic plan should always come first. However, if the work on a strategic plan was impeded by problems with governance, then governance needed to be fixed first. Others felt that so much work had gone into the governance proposal that it should be finalized now, while rapidly proceeding to work on the strategic plan.

Therefore, the plan of the TFSP is to finalize its work on the governance proposal aired in Mexico City in time for posting on the 90-day agenda (July 31) for decision in Dublin and also to develop a discussion paper about a strategic plan for the 30-day agenda (September 28) for discussion in Dublin. Adoption of the governance proposal could end up as an interim step, to be modified later, if need be, but it would allow more focus on the strategic plan going forward.

A proposal will be circulated for comments in the coming weeks, along with a questionnaire to be answered from the individual's point of view and not as an official position of the delegate's association. The TFSP is still seeking input and is planning to prepare its final proposal in June to allow for final consultation in early July prior to the 90-day agenda posting. The proposal will then go on the 90-day agenda for Dublin, where additional comments will be welcome prior to the 60-day agenda (August 29) at which time it will become a final action item.

Council received the report of the President on current activities.

Council received the report of the Nominations Committee on its activities since meeting in Edinburgh. Chairperson Jean-Louis Massé reviewed how the aim for diversity (cultural, geographical, linguistic, large/small association) described in the IAA Internal Regulations was applied by the Committee in its recommendations for leadership of the IAA and its committees. With respect to the President-Elect, the individual recommended to Council should be someone who had served preferably as an IAA Section or committee chairperson, had the support of his home association and was available to dedicate time to the work of the IAA. Chairperson Massé then announced that the Committee's intent to propose Katsumi Hikasa of Japan for election by Council in October 2007 as President-Elect for the year 2008. Mr. Hikasa, who has been involved in the work of the IAA for five years, has been the President of the Institute of Actuaries of Japan for the past four years and comes highly recommended by both actuarial associations in Japan. A full report on the meetings of the Nominations Committee in Mexico City has been included in the updated Committee report.

Council approved the numerous appointments and re-appointments, as proposed, of committee chairpersons, vice-chairpersons and other positions.

Council approved changes to the Statutes and Internal Regulations, on the recommendation of the Accreditation and Education Committees, subject to a minor wording change to article 2.1.5 and to the removal of article 2.1.4 (see Accreditation Committee report for details). These changes concern association membership in the IAA, the accreditation criteria and the addition of the education guidelines and syllabus to the Internal Regulations. A revised Article 2.1.4 will be included on the Dublin Council Agenda. The IAA Education Syllabus and Guidelines will become effective on January 1, 2009.

Council approved the following venues for future meetings of the IAA:

- Tallinn, Estonia in June 2009
- India in October/November 2009
- Vienna, Austria in October 2010
- The Netherlands in May 2013

A communication will be sent to member associations shortly proposing specific dates and asking them to advise us of any serious conflicts with other planned actuarial events.

The Serbian Actuarial Association was admitted as a Full Member and the Asociación de Actuarios de Panamá as an Associate Member. The President of the Serbian Actuarial Association, Jelena Kocovic, made a brief presentation introducing her association to the IAA.

After the report from the Secretary General on the finances and other matters, Council approved the audited financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2006 and set the dues payable by Full Member associations for 2008 at $14.00 CAD per fully qualified actuary.

The Regulations for the 29th International Congress of Actuaries that will take place in Cape Town, South Africa in March 2010 were adopted with slight modifications.

International Education Program (IEPC),

Alf Guldberg, Chairperson

The Committee received updated results of the interest survey which clearly show a real need for an IAEP, and discussed ideas on alternative ways to fund the IAEP.

The Instituto de Actuarios Espanoles (Spain), Instituto dos Actuarios Portugeses (Portugal) and Colegio Nacional de Actuarios A.C. (Mexico) have started an interesting project to develop the actuarial profession in Latin America and in Portuguese-speaking Africa. The Committee agreed that this project looked very promising and could be used as a pilot project for the IAEP to, among other things, show potential donors how the system was working. The Committee also received with great interest an update on the activities of the European Actuarial Academy.

Steering Committee

The IEPC Steering Committee has decided to increase the speed of the development of the IAEP and will look into a number of different issues, including the development of an inventory of existing international education material, how to accredit universities into the system, and the development of promotional material.

The Committee has asked the Nominations Committee to recommend to Council the extension of its current ToRs and membership until the end of 2007. This will be dealt with by Council electronic voting ballot. A proposal going forward will be brought to Council in October 2007.
